March 2005

Busy, Busy, Busy are the words for this month. This has been the strongest tax season I have ever had and with it comes some very interesting and challenging questions. I have kept the research department at NATP and my colleagues at AccountantsWorld and ATX/Kleinrock tax discussion forums abuzz with some of the most challenging questions of my tax preparation career. We have, however, collectively been able to address each issue that we faced with professionalism and have successfully determined the proper course of action through diligence and comprehensive tax law research. If I ever questioned the wisdom with my affiliation with several different tax research associations, this tax season has more than justified the decision to saddle up with multiple associations.

In keeping with my decision to provide you links to the IRS TAX TIPS webpage during the tax preparation season, the link for this month's tax tips is provided below. (Remember, our newsletter is one month ahead of the IRS TAX TIPS, i.e. the March newsletter provides a link to the IRS February TAX TIPS).

It is my continued hope that you might discover some additional TAX TIPS to answer questions you have concerning your 2004 Income Tax Return.

Please click on the link below to access the IRS tax tips selected for this month's newsletter.

For those who receive this newsletter by regular mail, I have selectively chosen, printed, and mailed you a group of IRS TAX TIPS that I feel would be the most helpful at this time of year.

Til next time,

Charlie
